

Heavy Letters

About the poems:

"... what could I really say that they don't say all on their own: they're composed of lots of heavy letters, and hope you enjoy or drown in them or let them teach you to swim or, maybe, just breathe with them for a spell." Robert Walker

Some of the poems included on EAT Poems #7 are from the author's book, The Buoyancy of All (New Sins Press). Others are not.

Listen for free at the EAT website:
<http://www.eatwords.net/>

EAT Poems is a series of audio chapbooks focusing on, but not strictly limited to, Northeast Florida Poets.

WWW.EATWORDS.NET

Like us on Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/EatWords>

Anyone interested in EAT should contact Mark Ari in the English Department at the University of North Florida: mari@unf.edu.